LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT

Dear Graduating Class of 2024,

Today we celebrate you and what God has done in and through you. Our prayer is that these moments will be “marking” for you during these special celebrations.

May we offer three suggestions for having a God-honoring celebration?

1. Honor God as the source of your life, gifts, and opportunities. Remember that before the foundation of the world, Jesus ordained this day and by His love made it possible for you to experience His grace and gifts. He has a great future in store for you as well (Eph. 2:8-10).
2. Give thanks for your family, friends, and all who have sown into your life with their love and kindness. All of us today are standing on the shoulders of those who went before us. A heart of gratitude is a wonderful thing to cultivate. Who poured into your life when you were a child? A teen? In the more recent years? Say a prayer of gratitude today for all who have sacrificed for you.
3. Remember, you are not at the end! This is a milestone, but not the end of the journey. Jesus will continue to grow and develop you as you entrust your life to Him. He will finish what He has started in you (Philippians 1:6). Lean into His future and trust Him as you help transform the world around us.

On behalf of the faculty, staff, and administration of Jessup University, we join your family and friends in honoring your accomplishments and we will continue praying for you. Please keep sharing the story of your journey with us. You are part of the Jesus story and the Jessup story and we want to hear how it turns out in your life!

With you on the journey,

The image shows two handwritten signatures in black ink. The signature on the left is 'John Jackson' and the signature on the right is 'Pamela Jackson'. Both are written in a cursive, flowing style.

John and Pamela Jackson
President and First Lady of Jessup University

SATURDAY'S COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER - DR. NICK GARZA

Dr. Nick Garza enjoys serving at Convoy of Hope, a faith-based, nonprofit organization that leads humanitarian initiatives across the United States and around the world. He is a church network director and national Hispanic spokesperson. He was born into a migrant farm working family, and was the first child to earn a college degree. He received a M.A. in Theology and a second in Missiology, and later earned a doctoral degree at Fuller Seminary.

Dr. Garza helped found the National Hispanic Christian Leadership Conference with friend Rev. Samuel Rodriguez and presently serves as a senior vice president and chief advisor. He has been a denominational executive, a district youth director, and a church planter and now enjoys serving as a teaching pastor at New Season Sacramento.

He formerly served on Convoy of Hope's Board of Directors, and presently serves on the board of Evangel and Jessup University. He has taught at both the university and seminary level and desires to see a new generation of leaders become "compassion" agents who change the world.

He and his wife, Sandra, have a wonderful family blessed by four children: Anthony (married to Sarah), Cassandra, Carissa, and Crystal and two grandchildren Josiah and Emelia.

JESSUP UNIVERSITY

Today's Commencement ceremony celebrates "What God has done, how awesome His works on our behalf!" (Psalm 66:5). As we celebrate the lives of our graduates, we rejoice at the privilege to share in His work in our history, in our graduates' lives and in the future lives they impact.

Jessup University has a rich heritage with humble beginnings dating back to the Great Depression era when Eugene Sanderson saw the need for a Bible college in the greater San Francisco Bay Area. He purchased two large houses across from what is now San Jose State University.

During the next five years, he prepared for the future by improving the property and building a chapel that served the faculty and student body for many years. In January of 1939, Sanderson asked William L. Jessup to carry on the vision and start the college. On September 19, 1939, San Jose Bible College was established with a class of just 14 students.

Over the years, the University has been served by five presidents including William Jessup, Al Tiffin, Woody Phillips, Chuck Boatman, and Bryce Jessup. It was during Dr. Bryce Jessup's tenure that the school became regionally accredited by WSCUC and moved its main campus here in Rocklin in 2004, when the University's name was changed to William Jessup University. In 2022, a rebranding process unveiled the current name as Jessup University, to solidify and improve brand recognition within the Christian higher education market.

Dr. John Jackson serves as Jessup University's sixth president. He holds a Ph.D. in Educational Administration and Organizational Studies from the University of California at Santa Barbara. His leadership has been marked with significant growth in numbers and reputation as we have simultaneously expanded facilities and program offerings to fulfill our mission. In the midst of today's celebration, we pause to reflect. We see God's faithful hand over eight decades. We celebrate the past, are grateful for the present, and are confidently expectant of our future. God is calling us to His future and we are leaning into His call!
